"Cult of 47." Sound familiar? No? I didn't quite think so. The moment I woke up and saw this on Twitter, I was curious.

So I decided to read more of this post made by someone under the alias "Paul Atreides," which, funny enough, is the name of a fictional character in the remake of the 1984 sci-fi film DUNE.

Paul, a duke's son, leads an army of the indigenous population called the Fremen on the desert planet of Arrakis as they get ready to defend their land from the evil Harkonnens.

I'm pretty sure this is what this person is referencing due to the style of their profile picture and header image on their Twitter account. But the topic of DUNE will unfortunately have to wait for another day.

I'm just here to break things down for this person and hope that it might help give them more insight into this particular case of Robert Crimo III.

As many might know him as Awake47 (as seen in DocumentingReality) or his stage name Awake The Rapper on his SoundCloud.

What was significance of Highland Park parade shooting suspect's affinity to number 47, and inverse 7-4?

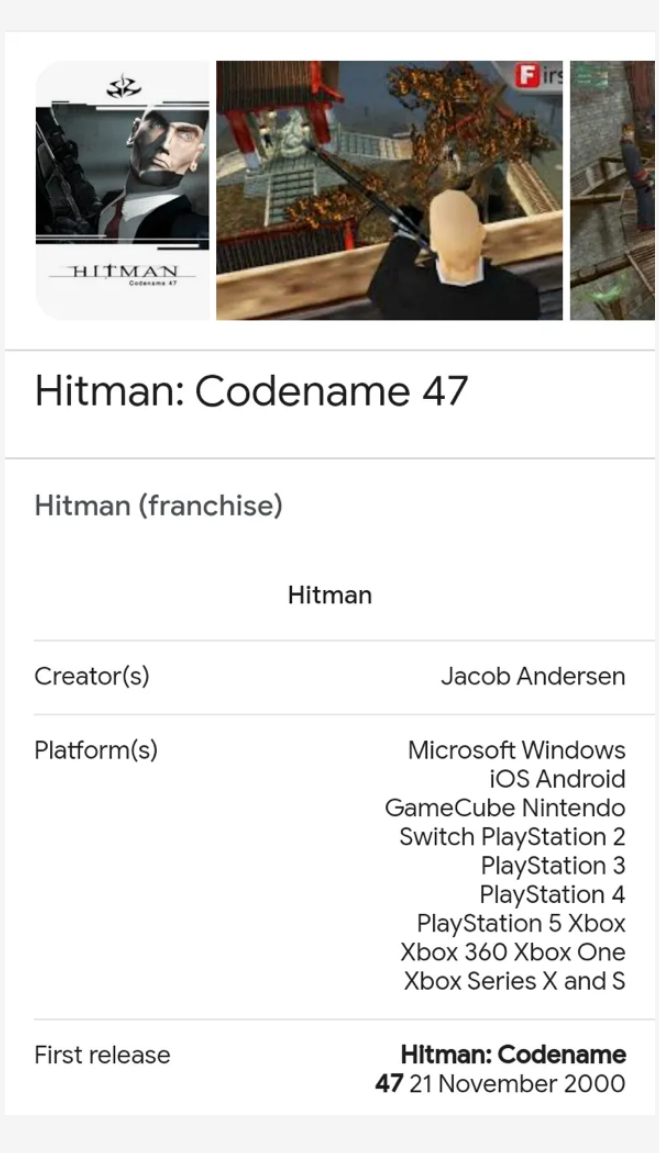
By Dorothy Tucker
July 6, 2022 / 4:43 PM CDT / CBS Chicago

CHICAGO (CBS) -- From imagery in his music videos to his face tattoos, accused Highland Park July 4th parade killer Robert "Bobby" Crimo III apparently had an affinity for the number 47.

"47" is the number. Oh! It must have some sort of significant meaning behind it! There is no way someone would get that tattooed on their face without it being cryptic, right?

Not exactly

The tattoo of "47" on his face literally references the Hitman franchise, a popular video game that started back in 2000, when Hitman: Codename 47 first came out in November and was a single-player game on Microsoft Windows.



Hitman: Codename 47

First release	Hitman: Codename 47 21 November 2000

The game features a character who becomes a killing machine clone with a tattoo of a barcode on the back of his head; his name is Agent 47.

It's really not that deep, if you think about it.

Well, the story in the hitman franchise is, but I'm referring to the tattoo on Robert's face for now.

Now onto Donald Trump.

Does this make me roll my eyes into the back of my head until I see stars? Yes.

Robert was never a political person, from what I've seen during my Documenting Reality days. He would shitpost things from either side to stir the pot and troll people for their reactions, but other than that, he didn't really give a shit. Most of this shit was posted in a section of the forum for trolls to shitpost.

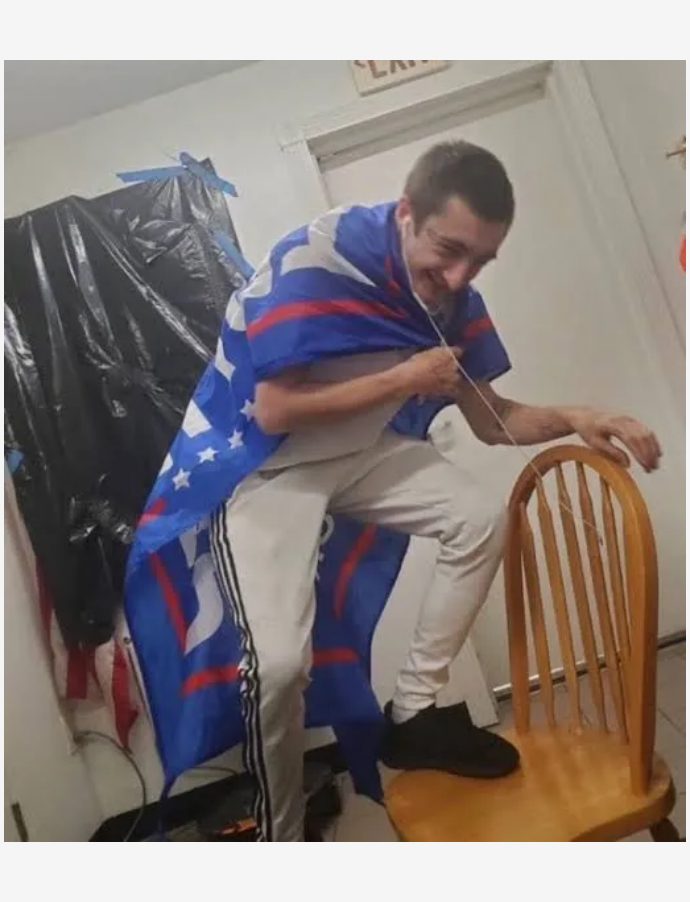
Tldr

Not only that, but the infamous image of him standing on the chair with a flag draped over his back?



Not even his own flag; it actually belonged to a friend of his who lives in Florida.

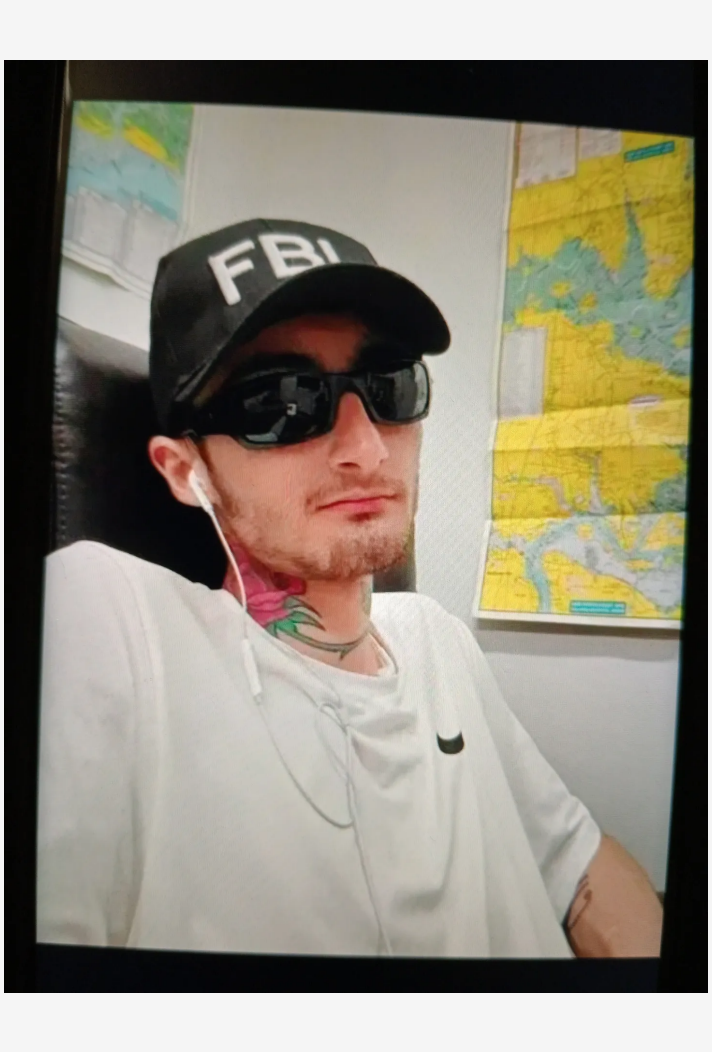
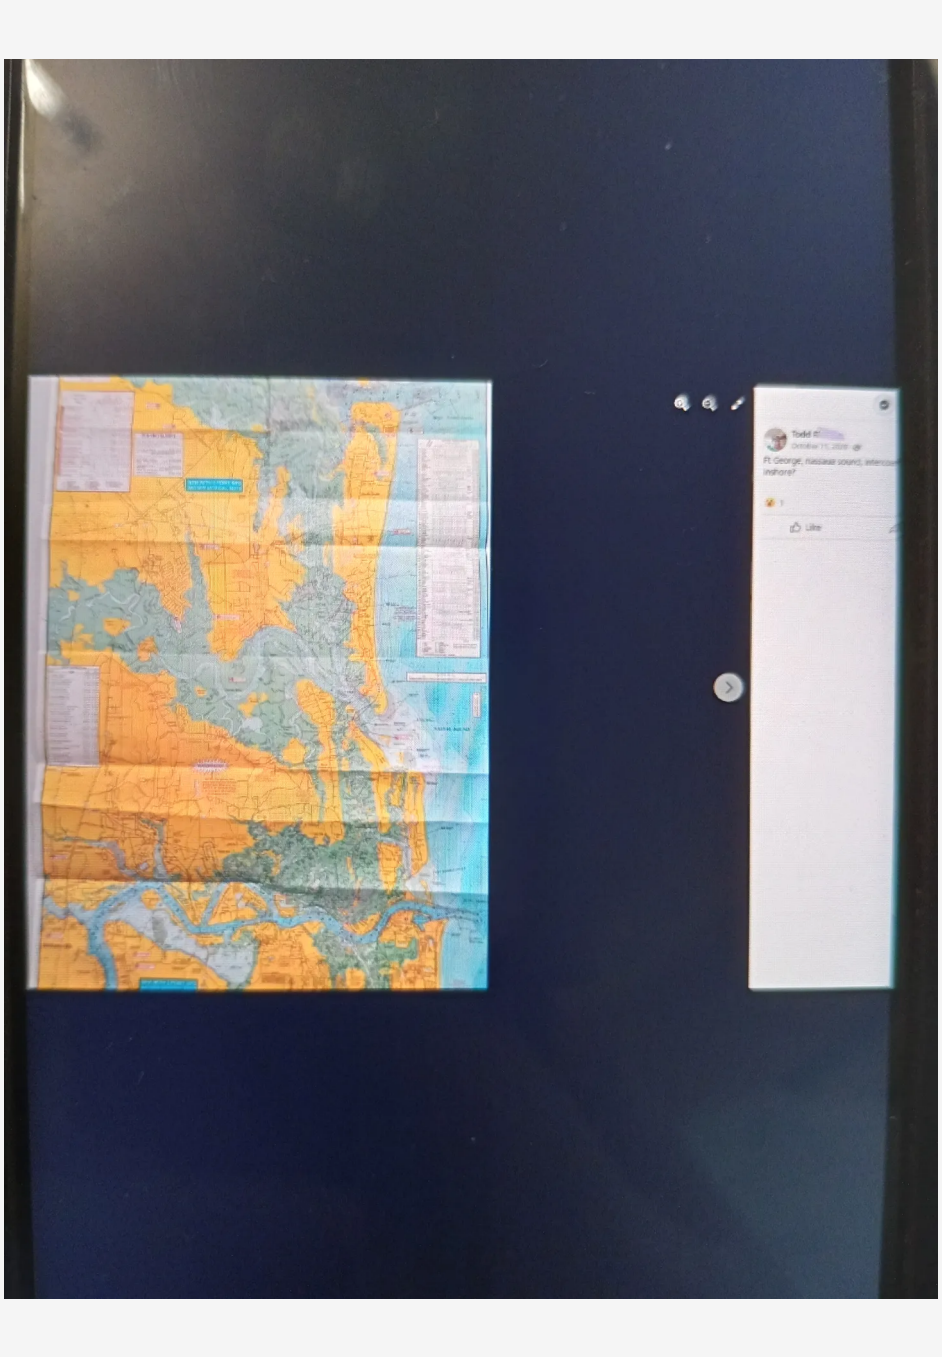
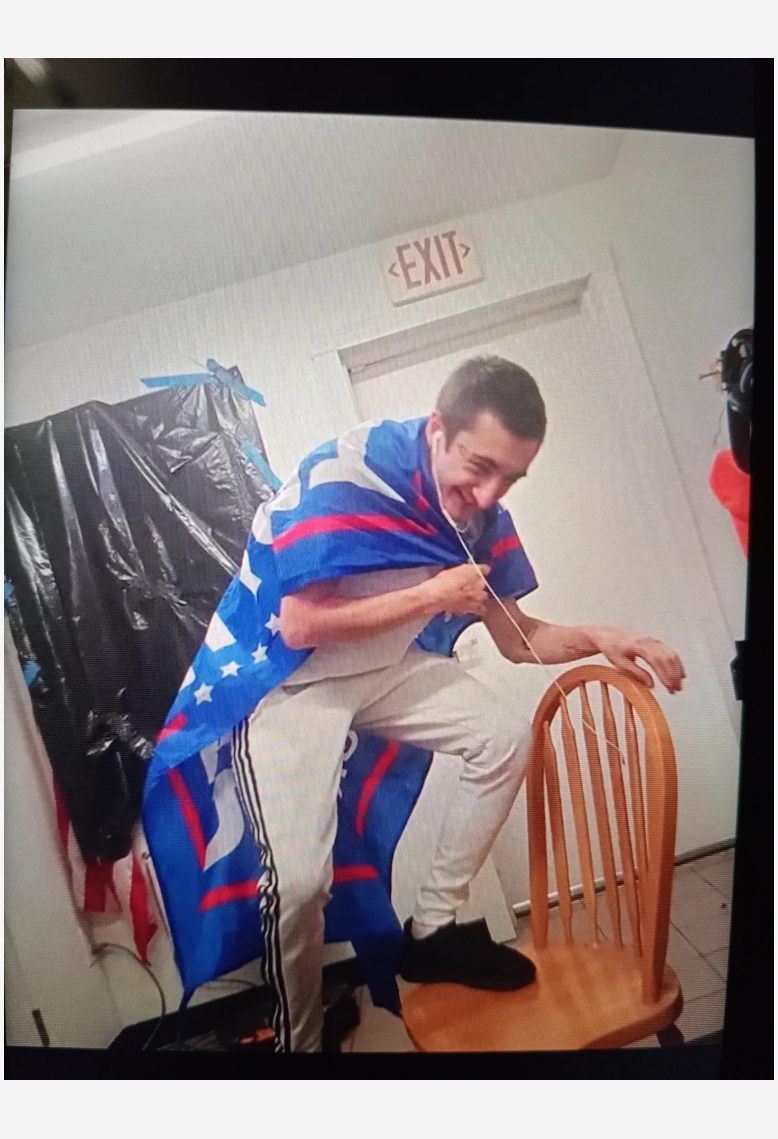
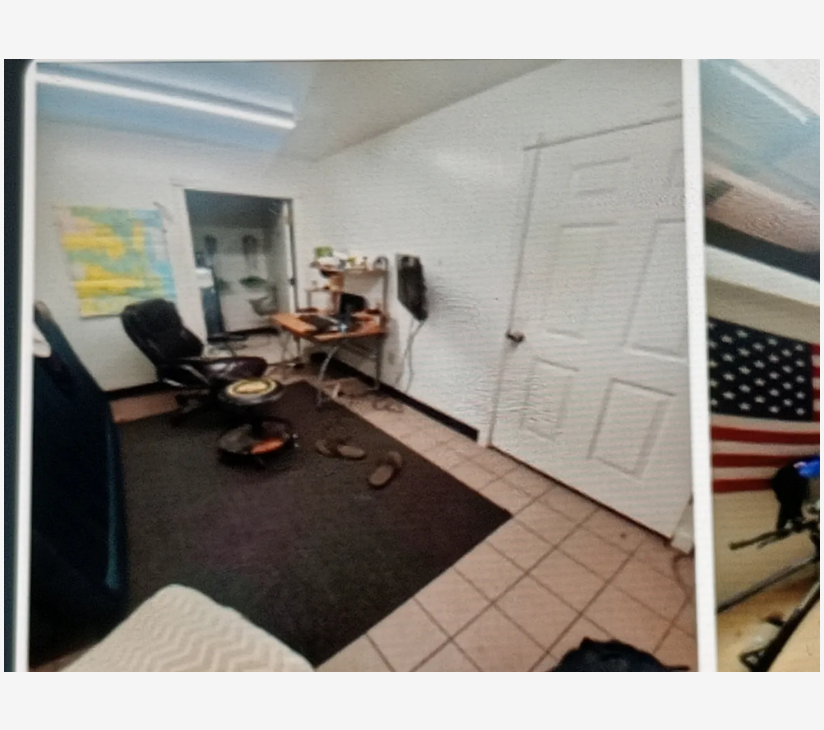
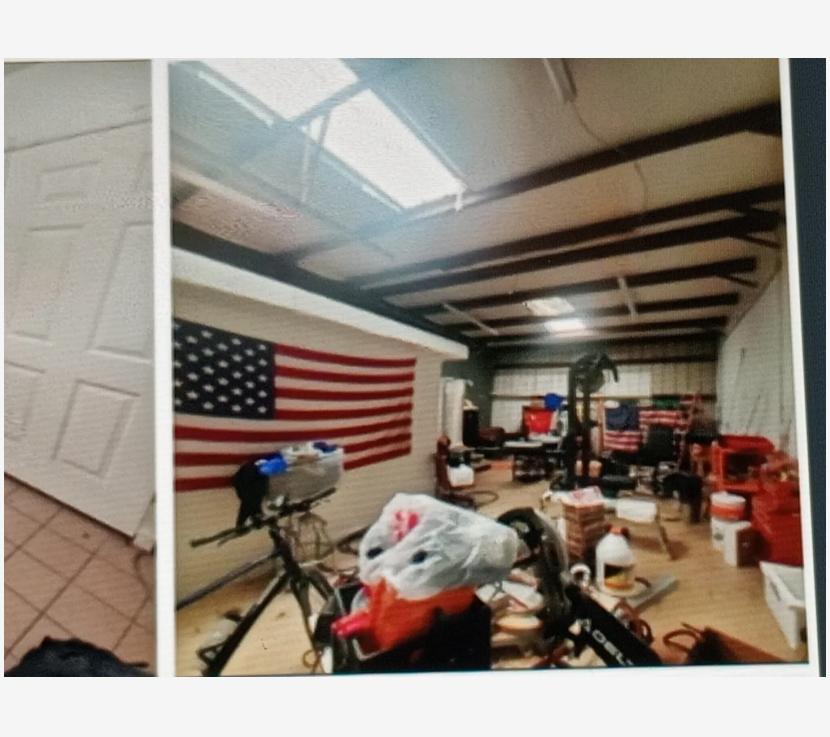
This "friend" Robert knew from the DocumentingReality forum. Robert had stated that he and his friend were fixing up a warehouse on the inside to be really nice, and that is where the flag and the FBI hat come into play.











And as you're aware, America only has 46 presidents as of right now. Not 47.

how many us presidents

There have been 46 presidencies (including the current president, Joe Biden, whose term began in 2021), and 45 people have served as president. Grover Cleveland was elected to two nonconsecutive terms, and as such is considered the 22nd and 24th president of the United States.

Anyway, that's all for now. I just wanted to have my little input. If there is anything you'd like to know or have something you want to contribute, please let me know.
